

COMMUNITY HOUSING:

Help Make Affordable Homes for All Manitobans a 2023 Election Priority

1

Empower Tenants & The Community

Speak with tenants, family, friends, and board members about the importance of non-profit housing in the upcoming election. Share your organization's and your tenant's successes with MNPFA and follow us on social media to spread the word widely. Share the 2023 Housing Priorities and explain why they matter!

2

Host a Community Event

Host a community event to showcase the value of non-profit housing within your community. It could be a forum, debate, or a casual BBQ or pancake breakfast. Invite candidates and engage them in conversation on the 2023 Housing Priorities.

3

Encourage Voting

Share information and resources with tenants to encourage voting turnout during the election. Tenants can confirm if they are registered to vote here.

4

Meet with Candidates

Talk with candidates of all parties within your community to share why non-profit housing should be a priority through offering a tour, talking about successes, and telling them about your waiting lists. Show candidates how they can support non-profit housing by talking about your organization's own journey, funding, and support you have received from the province to make it a success.

5

Continue the Conversation

Stay involved after the election. Follow up with the elected MLAs in your community and ask how they will follow through on their promises to prioritize non-profit housing. Invite the elected MLAs to visit for a tour and coffee chat with residents.
